

FROM ALLESEE ORTHODONTIC APPLIANCES Consultation Models

Urethane models in six different occlusions are available for demonstration purposes. These models are suitable for either removable appliances or fixed bracket display. By offering six different models, most clinical situations can be illustrated to patient and parents. The models also offer excellent teaching aids for new staff members. Many orthodontists find that these models with removable and fixed appliances are helpful in study club and group presentations to referring dentists.

The urethane models are much more durable than acrylic and can be easily duplicated with alginate and plaster to produce "working" models for a variety of training functions.

Models in over 2 dozen different occlusions. Call for a complete listing of models, prices and articulator choices.

We offer a "Gnatho Series" display binder with nine pre-selected models representing common malocclusions, as well as one ideal model. A six model "Pedo Series" binder is also available.
